Palak Raka

Hello,

I'm Palak, and I am deeply drawn to the power of design as a tool for exploration and storytelling, allowing me to express a multitude of themes and ideas. Coming from a small town, studying design has expanded my horizons, encouraging me to have a comprehensive perspective. My curiosity has always led me to explore the unknown, allowing me to understand the known better. It brings me immense joy to create, regardless of form, scale, or medium. I am committed to honing my skills and delving deeper into the art of storytelling through the lens of design.
